

Evidence-Based Policing

Origins of EBP

Evidence-based policing began with Lawrence Sherman dating back to 1988

4 Key Ideas in EBP

1.

Scientific research has a role to play in developing effective and efficient policing programs

2.

Research produced must reach standards of methodological rigor that can be useful to policing

3.

Results should be easily translatable into everyday policing practices and policies

4.

Research should be the outcome of a blending of police experience with academic research